NORMAN H. KINDER

Norman H. Kinder Jr., 46, Granite City, an attorney in this area for 19 years, has been chosen as the new associate judge in the Third Judicial Circuit, it was announced Friday.

The eight circuit judges balloted on Kinder and Daniel Stack of Highland last week after narrowing the field to two from among seven applicants.

The position is an additional judgeship, created because of the heavy court caseload in Madison and Bond counties. There are now nine associate judges.

A lifelong resident of the Quad-City area, Kinder served as the 1979-80 president of the Madison County Bar Association.

Born in Madison, he is a past president of the Tri-City Bar Association.

Accord by U.S., housing authority

An agreement reached last week in Washington, D.C., calls for the Madison County Housing Authority to operate its apartment complexes with 25 to 75 percent minority occupancy.

A range of 51 to 81 percent minority rentals had been sought by the U.S. Housing and Urban Development Department, which pressured the MCHA by delaying forwarding of its federal funds.

The plan that was agreed upon, subject to formal ratification by the MCHA board and by HUD, covers a four-year period.

Mrs. Janet Harolan, MCHA executive director, expects to work steadily toward compliance with the 25-75 goal, and the progress is to be evaluated a year from now.

Housing applicants willing to move into a low-rent project occupied by people of another race will be given preference when MCHA apartments become available.

Applicants who reject three offers of available housing will be moved to the bottom of the waiting list. The effective date is expected to be the start of the new federal fiscal year on Oct. 1.

Whether the agreement will free $4,200,000 for modernization work at MCHA projects is uncertain, since much of the money already has been allocated to other areas of the U.S.

Educator dies

Dr. George T. Wilkins, 77, of 2611 Cleveland Blvd., well known educator and author, former Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction and a Southern Illinois educator for nearly 50 years, died at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He had been admitted to the hospital on Aug. 26 after suffering a stroke. Dr. Wilkins began his teaching career in 1923 upon completion of high school at Anna-Jonesboro Community High School in Anna, Ill. A native Illinoisan, he was born and raised on a farm in Union County, Ill.

He served on nearly every level of education, from classroom teacher in the rural schools of Union County through the office of superintendent of schools in Wolf Lake, Thebes, Ill., and came here in 1943, when he was named superintendent of schools in Madison.

Court test for Metro board and Teamsters

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

A heated dispute between the Metro-East Sanitary District and Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local 525 involves charges the district is moving toward patronage hiring while seeking the exclusive right to hire and fire its employees.

The union charge was made in response to a district complaint filed in the Madison County Circuit Court, asking that the Teamsters' contract right to use arbitration in labor disputes be overturned. The district argues that state law prohibits a government body from surrendering such authority to others, including an independent arbitrator.

An arbitration clause is part of the Teamsters' contract, signed by the district last year and in effect until 1984.

Teamster business representative Dale Stewart said results of a pending trial could possibly affect the bargaining contracts of about 700,000 public workers. He contends the district is waging the legal battle to free itself to hire "other people," citing the Sept. 1 appointment of Dannel Korman, wife of St. Clair County Judge Stephen Korman (related story on this page).

According to Walter "Shang" Greathouse, board president of the district, the real issue is the district's right to operate as efficiently as possible without union protection of incompetent employees. "You can't operate with all those tentacles wrapped around you," he commented. Greathouse, who also acts as unofficial director while the board allows that post to remain vacant, has pared down the sanitary district's staff from 137 employees in 1969 to a present staff of about 38. The reduction has helped the district erase $1.5 million in tax anticipation warrants, he said.

Among those employees dismissed was the wife of Russell Robinson, board member and former board president. Delores Robinson's dismissal and subsequent attempt to be reinstated through arbitration is the focus of the district's legal action, although her case represents numerous other cases which are consuming the time and efforts of district officials, Greathouse asserts.

Mrs. Robinson, who said her job was the result of patronage, claims her dismissal as a sewage treatment billing clerk was intended to make room for other patronage appointments. As an example, she cited the hiring of Walter Greathouse Jr., son of the board president, the same month she was fired.

Greathouse charged in a May arbitration hearing that the district discovered thousands of dollars in uncollected bills were due. He listed that as a reason for her dismissal.

The arbitrator agreed that certain billing problems were evident but said no warning letters were issued to Mrs. Robinson. (Continued on Page 3)

Patronage hiring by district cited

By GEORGEANN MCGEE

Amid charges the Metro-East Sanitary District is attempting to seek exclusive control of its hiring practices to create patronage jobs (see related story), a Press-Record review of recently hired permanent and temporary employees reveals several workers have political or board connections.

Within the last year, the board has hired: — For about $20,000 a year, the son of board President Walter "Shang" Greathouse.

— For $15,000 a year, the wife of a St. Clair County Judge, Stephen Korman.

— For full-time employment, both the son of board member David Bergfield's boss and the brother of Bergfield's daughter's husband.

Those youths with political or board connections finding employment this summer with the district for $4 to $6 per hour were:

— A sanitary district board member's son (Bergman).

— The sanitary district (Granite City) office manager's son.

— A sanitary district attorney's brother (Custo).

— The son of the sanitary district's superintendent of foremen.

— One of the sons of the Granite City mayor.

FACES OPPOSITION. Walter "Shang" Greathouse, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District, holds a copy of the Southern Illinois Labor Tribune assailing his effort to have the Circuit Court declare that arbitration of district labor disputes is against state law.

Greathouse says his efforts to reorganize the district to reduce expenditures and debt have been hampered by repeated arbitration hearings. Others see the district's actions as aiding political control of hiring, layoff and dismissal decisions. (Press-Record Photo by Pat Foley)

A state law signed Friday exempts from the Illinois state sales tax rail products that are shipped out of the state.

In signing the legislation at the South Works plant of U.S. Steel in Chicago, Gov. James R. Thompson said it will provide a tax incentive helping that company to complete a $250 million rail mill.

It also is being studied to determine whether it may have a favorable impact on the Quad-City area and Madison County, hard hit by slumps in steel sales and sales of railroad freight car products.

Illinois will receive an additional $50 million in transportation funds in a supplemental appropriations bill newly approved by Congress.

Included is $20 million in preference share financing—low-cost government loans to railroads—for initial construction of the rail yard restructuring (Marge) project in this metropolitan area. This brings the total allocated for the project thus far to $45 million.

Gov. James R. Thompson said, "The $50 million statewide total brings to $240 million the additional federal transportation money that is earmarked for state highway, rail and transit improvements. That $240 million is in addition to Illinois' regular share of $530 million in federal transportation money.

"Our state highway program is receiving $1.31 in federal funds during the current federal fiscal year ending Sept. 30 for every dollar sent to Washington through federal highway user taxes."

Along with the $20 million for railroad yard revision and expansion here, the new appropriation provides $25 million for interstate transfer funds for projects in northeastern Illinois ($20 million for highway improvements and $5 million for transit projects), plus $2 million in federal rail funds to the Regional Transit Authority for commuter rail services.

Failure to reach agreement on August 1982-July 1983 contract "givebacks" intensified friction between steelworkers and steelmakers this summer, but a second effort to negotiate concessions is developing this fall.

When the United Steelworkers of America union holds its biennial convention this week in Atlantic City, with 4,000 delegates present, President Lloyd McBride will seek local leaders' views on whether to resume early contract talks with the eight major producers.

The eight include National Steel Corp., owner of Granite City Steel. The companies jointly bargain with the USWA to the pattern for steel wages, fringe benefits and working conditions ultimately affecting 270,000 persons across the nation (although not all work for the eight firms).

The industry and workers are now in the last year of their present three-year pact. With sales down due to the economic recession and due to the impact of steel imports, about 45 percent of hourly steel employees in the United States have been laid off.

In late July, McBride and the union rejected as unacceptable a plan that would have "given back" $6 billion to $8 billion of already agreed-upon contract provisions (related story).

Select announcers for North

Four students have been selected to read the morning announcements at Granite City High School South: Karen Moore, junior; Cheryl Thomson, senior; Sean McGovern, junior and Ken Dauer, sophomore were chosen by Ron Pennell, speech and theater department head.

Miss Moore and Miss Thomson alternate reading the announcements with McGovern and Dauer. Their responsibilities include reading the Pledge of Allegiance and various announcements concerning school activities and happenings involving the campus.

Miss Thomson is the vice president of the Speech and Theatre Club and Miss Moore is the club's secretary. Miss Thomson, Miss Moore and McGovern are enrolled in Individual Events, a speech class where students perform at contests throughout the school year. This is Dauer's first year on the debate team.

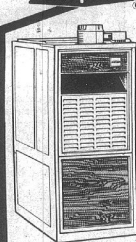

"I'll probably compete in radio speaking this year, so reading the morning announcements is good practice," McGovern noted. Radio speaking is a category in individual events very similar to reading the announcements.

Artwork is reappearing on walls at SIUE campus

Artwork that had been temporarily removed from the walls of campus buildings at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is being returned to its respective places.

A task force from the Office of Cultural Arts and University Museums has begun the arduous process of fastening the works to campus building walls with a theft-proof device, according to David Huntley, director.

The artwork was part of a campus-wide exhibition entitled "Museum Without Walls." Most of the $1-million collection had to be removed from the walls because of a rash of art thefts early this year, Huntley said.

As many as five pieces were stolen from Lovejoy Library, the University Center and Classroom Building III. None has been recovered, Huntley said.

"We hope the theft-proof devices will protect the works from being removed from the walls," Dan Holder, general assistant in the SIUE department of art and design, said. "In turn, we hope to continue to provide a valuable cultural service to the university."

The 160 pieces of artwork were removed by staff members of the Office of Cultural Arts and University Museums. Huntley said it took more than a week to remove all the artwork.

"However, it will take Holder and his task force more than a month before all of the pieces are securely fastened," Huntley stated.

BATTERY ALLEGED

Randall L. LeMaster, 19, of 2250 Benton St., was arrested for battery and disorderly conduct last week at 23rd and Benton streets, where a large group was arguing in the middle of the street. He allegedly pushed a police officer and then struck the officer in the chest area. LeMaster was freed on $102 bail.

school superintendent's son.

—The son of a county board member (William Webb).

—The Venice Township tax collector's son.

—The brother of the Granite City superintendent of streets.

Several others with board or political connections that were not as direct also were hired.

Allegations of a patronage system within the sanitary district stem from Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local 525 business representative Dale Stewart and fired union employee Douglas Robinson, wife of board member Russell Robinson, who said she was originally hired herself through patronage.

She won an arbitrator's decision to be returned to a seniority waiting list for hiring, but the board is asking the Madison County Circuit Court to overturn that arbitration decision. The board also seeks a ruling declaring any subsequent requests for arbitration by any district employee to be illegal.

Board member Gerald said Mrs. Robinson was hired three years ago to supply the board with information about the operations of the district's St. Clair County (Washington Park) office, prior to a near clean sweep of employees. The district-wide staff has been cut from more than 100 to the current total of 38.

Bergfield told the Press-Record his understanding was that Mrs. Robinson's employment was a temporary measure that backfired. "I was taken for a sucker," he said.

According to Bergfield, he has fought vigorously to get rid of excessive district employees and helped the district eliminate a $1.5 million debt. He is angry that the district's hiring practices are now being questioned, and he defends the practice of hiring employees from among those suggested by board members.

He said he has a list of people at home who have approached him for assistance in finding jobs. When his boss asked him if work was available for his son, "I said sure," Bergfield said, "He's a good worker."

Bergfield also said his son-in-law's brother was hired at his suggestion. "We needed some people, and each board member was asked who they knew," he said. "You always hire who you know. You don't use a product you don't know anything about."

The board member said a call for applications from the general public would have brought forth a flood of applicants whose abilities would be unknown.

Greathouse and his son, who helped screen the summer employees, both agreed. "We don't put an ad in the paper. We'd have a lot of applicants," the senior Greathouse said.

The volume of applications increases dramatically at such times as when benefits for laid-off steelworkers expire, according to the younger Greathouse, Walter Jr.

He said most employment applications to the district "end up in the trash can" due to the sheer number. This summer, he chose to hire "mostly college kids who seemed to be dependable."

The senior Greathouse said he approached the board last February about hiring his son and feels that the action calls for no apology.

His son's current $10 per hour rate as foreman, a position stemming from a May departmental reorganization effort, is $2 per hour higher than the pay of a laborer under him who has worked for the district about nine years.

He said the wife of the St. Clair County judge who was hired a few weeks ago to supervise time cards and gasoline allotments at the district's Washington Park office was the only individual interviewed for that office job.

Her $15,000 a year salary was set in proportion to treatment plant billing office workers in Granite City; the highest paid billing secretary receives $19,000 a year, according to Pres. Greathouse.

Once again, he said, to have advertised for a position would have meant "trouble" in dealing with the disappointed losers. Like fellow board member Bergfield, Greathouse also has been asked for job requests from various individuals, including political figures.

Greathouse guessed he would take some "heat" if an article appeared about certain employees who have been hired. But the veteran political figure invited his interviewer to come back and write some good things "about the ick on the (district's) cake" when the criticism of patronage hiring dies away.

Consensus sought

leaders indicated they might have been receptive to a $2 billion figure.

Among the July proposals were a wage freeze over the next three years and sharply limited cost-of-living raises. A USAW counteroffer would have traded some of their future pay boosts for more assistance to those now unemployed.

There are predictions that the stalemate could end in a nationwide steel strike in August 1983, but a move is taking shape to open wide-ranging talks in the near future.

It is considered possible that an early agreement could supersede portions of the current contract at a time prior to its scheduled July 31 expiration.

The general topic of negotiations leading toward a new multi-year agreement is not scheduled for consideration by the convention. But McBride at a breakfast meeting tomorrow will seek a consensus opinion on the resumption of talks.

The union president has assailed a new U.S. Steel policy of paying overtime rather than recalling furloughed workers if orders and production increase.

Many of the workers who oppose granting concessions say their employers would not necessarily use such savings to limit the steel business.

And some steelworkers are circulating statistics from proxy statements and Standard & Poor directories about the size of the salaries, bonuses, retirement funds and other benefits of National Steel executives, including Chairman Howard Love, President James Haas, Vice-Chairman Richard Smith and G. W. Humphrey Jr., president of the corporation's newly-created Steel Group.

In the July 1982 negotiations, union representatives indicated they might be willing to accept pay freezes but said they would not simultaneously give up cost-of-living adjustments, which are valued as keys to helping workers keep pace with inflation.

These representatives said this fall about maintaining but deferring cost-of-living payments. However, the union strongly feels there should be no "cap" on maximum cost-of-living payments.

Many workers seem willing to renegotiate the 13-week extended vacation that is granted each five years to workers with qualifying seniority.

Both parties appear to be convinced that total hourly pay costs averaging $23.40 are an impediment to successful competition with foreign steelmakers, at least under existing conditions.

They also recognize that a long strike next year could further open the door to imported steel. But they remain apart on the details of how to provide better economic health for the owners and workers.

Taking into account the cash flow problems of most steelmakers—National Steel lost $90 million in the first half of 1982—some predict that the management bargainers would be willing to settle for fewer givebacks if they could advance the effective date of the next contract.

Every month that goes by is adding to the financial pain of the companies, as well as that of many of the employees, and Illinois state legislators appealed in Washington on Thursday for federal action to help hard-hit steel towns.

Court test

Robinson and there was no indication any "chronic" problems were associated with her performance during her three years with the district.

The arbitrator ruled she should be placed on a seniority list and must be rehired if a job opening becomes available, since she was dismissed. The district wants to void that arbitrator's decision and prevent any other employee firings from going to arbitration.

Mrs. Robinson lost an earlier arbitration hearing when she tried to replace a new employee in the district's labor and maintenance unit.

"I just don't think we should be subjected to that kind of stuff (arbitration)," Greathouse said. "We're going to find out who's going to run this place."

No date has been set for the trial to determine the right of the Teamsters.

Steven W. Siebert, 23, of 2041 Edison Ave., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

His son's current $10 per hour rate as foreman, a position stemming from a May departmental reorganization effort, is $2 per hour higher than the pay of a laborer under him who has worked for the district about nine years.

also are trying to maintain normal service, but freight deliveries are being slowed substantially.

Negotiations for a new contract were proceeding today. If they fail, there were indications Congress may act quickly on emergency legislation, possibly ordering a new 60-day cooling-off period. A 60-day delay obtained by Pres. Ronald Reagan expired during the weekend.

The engineers number 26,000. They are employed by Conrail and by a number of major railroads. The total number of railroad workers being idled by the strike is estimated at 300,000.

Although agreeing to meet at 9 a.m. today, both sides said they were "too exhausted" to have a productive discussion last night.

Their sessions ended early Sunday morning, and the National Mediation Board met separately with management (National Railway Labor Conference) and employees (Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers) during the day yesterday.

The union said the industry is insisting on a no-strike clause and that this will be resisted. A railroad spokesman said the chief issue is the pay level.

The U.S. reported that a nationwide rail strike could cost the nation's economy $50 million a day.

Industrial plants may feel the pinch soon but some are said to have stockpiled supplies and raw materials in anticipation of the walkout. With the recession still being felt, there is less production than usual and thus fewer potential strike complications.

Other railroad unions have agreed to new contracts; the locomotive engineers are the last group unsigned.

Thompson said the new U.S. Steel mill will provide 1,000 jobs, offsetting any tax loss Illinois might suffer through the new law and adding to the tax base.

The South Works is now expected to remain competitive with companies in two other states. Without the tax incentive, the governor said, the plant would have had to add seven percent to the cost of Illinois rail products shipped out of the state, while Pennsylvania and Colorado have no sales tax on out-of-state rail shipments.

dleman, president of SIUE at the time. Wilkins taught at the local university, among a multitude of other activities, after serving as the elected statewide superintendent of public instruction.

He was Madison County's regional superintendent of schools from 1947 to 1959.

The local resident was elected Illinois superintendent of public instruction in 1959, a position he held until 1963.

Dr. Wilkins joined the staff of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1963 as a professor in the graduate program of the Department of Education. He retired in 1971 as Professor Emeritus of SIUE.

Many people referred to him as "Mr. Education in Illinois." During his 48-year career in education, Dr. Wilkins devoted service to youth in all areas of education and his leadership has been recognized nationwide. He was a recognized authority on school law and school finance.

He co-authored, with Dr. Robert G. Andree, a book on "School Construction" and also was the author of "The School Law." Dr. Wilkins was a past president of the Marquette Division of the Illinois Education Association and a past president of the Midwest Conference of Chief State School Officers.

A director of the Colonial Bank in Granite City, Dr. Wilkins also served as director of the Vernon Finance Corp., Indianapolis, Ind.

Although he experienced a busy career in education, Dr. Wilkins found time to be an active community leader. He participated in church work and had served as elder in four Presbyterian churches. At the time of his death, he was a member and elder of the First United Presbyterian Church in Granite City.

He also was a leader in the Boy Scout organization, having served as president of the Cahokia Mound Council, and was the holder of the Silver Beaver, the highest award which can be bestowed upon an adult volunteer.

Dr. Wilkins served in leadership positions in the American Red Cross, the Post-War Planning Commission, YMCA, National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, Chamber of Commerce, Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois and was a past district governor of Rotary International, District 646.

He is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest, Who's Who in American Education, Who's Who in America and Who's Who in International Education. His work and experience in the field of education gave him a rich background to communicate with people of all ages on most subjects and to help them to live and adjust to our complex society.

Dr. Wilkins was credited with doing more than any other individual in the state of Illinois to bring about reorganization of the school districts of the state. He participated in numerous school surveys in Illinois and spoke at more than 1,200 meetings on school reorganization in Illinois.

He served as a member and vice-chairman of the Urban Study Commission on Education in Illinois from 1968 to 1970 and served as a member of the Illinois School Problems Commission for more than 15 years.

On June 23, 1973, the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, named and dedicated a campsite in honor of Dr. Wilkins for his more than 50 years of service to Scouting.

Dr. Wilkins served as a college professor and administrator at McKendree, Shurtleff and Monticello colleges.

A special tribute was accorded to Dr. Wilkins at the Ware and Wolf Lake, Ill., homecoming held Sept. 18, 1977. A former resident of Wolf Lake, Dr. Wilkins was instrumental in organizing the high school there.

Honors also bestowed upon Dr. Wilkins by Belleville Area College at the first BAC special awards event in May 1978, where he received a plaque in recognition of and appreciation for his service to the college and to the cause of community college education.

Dr. Wilkins was a 50-year member of the Masonic order, holding membership in Masonic Lodge 835 at the time of his death.

He married the former Mary Treese, who survives, on July 4, 1926. They are the parents of one son, Dr. George T. Wilkins Jr., of Edwardsville, a Granite City pediatrician.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column of today's issue.

Opposes law revisions on drunk driving

State Treasurer Jerry Consentino, running for Secretary of State, charged last week that his opponent and not the court system is to blame for "the large number of motorists who avoid suspensions of their driving privileges despite their refusal to submit to breathalyzer tests when arrested for drunk driving."

He added that thousands of convicted drunk drivers, and additional thousands of drivers whose driving privileges were suspended for refusal to submit to breathalyzer tests, have retained possession of their driver licenses.

The Democratic secretary of state nominee said legislation proposed by his opponent to improve enforcement of the implied consent provision of the state's drunk driving law was "unnecessary, and would effectively more than double the amount of time police officers would have to devote to successful prosecution of implied consent violations."

"He has been so busy telling the police and courts how to do their jobs that he seems to have forgotten or neglected to do his own job."

AWARD TO BENNETT

School groups disagree on the governor race

The Illinois Education Association is backing Gov. James R. Thompson (R) for a third term Nov. 7, and the rival Illinois Federation of Teachers is outraged about it. The IFT is backing Adlai Stevenson (D) for governor.

The IEA executive board endorsed Thompson on Saturday, praising him for making education a high priority of his administration.

He has a record of nearly six years of support and impressive legislative action," IEA Pres. Reg Weaver said. "His personal intervention settled crisis situations in our schools."

IFT Pres. Robert M. Healey said the endorsement was astonishing and called Thompson "the most ardent education governor in recent history. Their endorsement will be ignored by the vast majority of their members."

"Since he has been governor, Illinois' share of educational funding has dropped from 48 to 40 percent, disregarding the state constitution which requires the state to provide the major share of educational funding."

"Thompson has shorted the teacher pension fund two years in a row, and every teacher's retirement. Last year, he cut pension funding by 40 percent; this year by 27 percent."

Even though he promised not to, "For the first time in history, we have actually provided fewer education dollars than it did in the preceding year."

Instead of trying to offset the severe loss of federal funds for the schools, he has become the chief standard bearer in Illinois for 'Reasonomics'."

"Everyone concerned about the future of this state should be out there working for Stevenson, who is committed to adequate educational and pension funding," Healey concluded.

While endorsing the Republicans, Thompson and Secretary of State Jim Edgar, the IEA backed three Democrats, Neil Hartigan for attorney general, James Donnewald for state treasurer and State Comptroller Roland Burris.

Arrested today in Madison for DUI

Robert Cochran, 2013 13th St., turned himself in to Madison police this morning after his vehicle allegedly hit a parked pickup truck and then left the scene.

He is charged with leaving the scene and driving under the influence of alcohol. Madison police observed a maroon pickup truck parked in the 700 block of Madison Avenue at 3:30 a.m. today and noted that the vehicle had been hit in the rear.

Debris was found behind the truck at the point of impact. Police followed a trail of fluid and found Cochran's brown truck in the driveway at his home. There was heavy front end damage and the point of the debris at the scene, it was alleged.

Cochran, meanwhile, had left after piling the floor and "trying to figure out what to do," a relative said. He reported to the police station at 4:30 a.m. and was arrested.

Teachers take course in computers

Betty Dumont, business education teacher at Granite City High School North, and Mary Donna Scaturro of Venice Lincoln Technical Center went back to the classroom to complete a two-week workshop, Word Processing with Microcomputers, offered by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The class, taught by Pat Patsolf, associate professor in the department of business education and administrative services at SIUE, worked with TRS-80 microcomputers and Scripsit software at Review Gardens High School in St. Louis. They studied the current trend in computer science and available software before preparing 100 assignments to teach the word processing skill in their own classrooms.

Unlike typewriters, the word processing system allows the operator to make corrections in the text, design or format of a letter or document before it is actually printed.

Using the teacher-made assignments, students will learn to use the new microcomputers to prepare them for entry into American business offices, where 800,000 microcomputers are expected to be in use by 1985.

Steeler kickers fall to Hazewood Central 4-0

Bob Kehoe, Granite North soccer coach, is understandably concerned. The Steeler's 4-2 loss to Hazewood Central Saturday put the team's record at 3-4-1.

In the 10-year history of soccer at North, Kehoe cannot recall a season in which the Steelers have had 19 goals scored against them, but after eight games, North already has allowed that many.

"That right there tells you what the problem is," Kehoe said. The defense just has not, thus far, been consistent. Before the season started, Kehoe said the defense would be the key to North's season. With an inexperienced backfield, he knew there would be problems.

"But I didn't think we'd have this severity of a problem," he said. Steve Trittschuh, North's center fullback who is the one defender with ample experience, was injured in the season opener against Quincy Senior and he still is not up to 100 percent.

Kehoe said, Trittschuh's right ankle still causes him trouble and Kehoe said that this has hurt the team. "He is getting stronger."

But, the defensive problems cannot be blamed on Trittschuh's injury alone. "Only one of their (Hazelwood's) four goals came from the center," he said.

North scored first six minutes into the game when Mike Dennis assisted Benny Nolan with a pass from midfield. Nolan was faced with one Hazelwood defender and went man-to-man to get the ball around and shoot.

Hazelwood came back when Rick Eades scored. In the second half, Hazelwood's Ed Bixby scored twice. Down 3-2, the Steelers came back with 9:30 remaining when Brian Levin scored on a double assist from Nolan and Gary Sikora. Sikora had the ball on the right sideline and passed to Nolan who then back over to Sikora. Sikora slipped the ball into the inside to Nolan who had his back to the Hazelwood goal. Nolan found Levin, who was open, and passed. Levin set the ball and put it into the net.

With only three minutes remaining, Mike Lerowe scored Hazelwood's last goal. But defensive errors hampered North's game. Kehoe is most concerned about those errors because they place additional pressure on goaltender Rick Branding. "The defensive errors continue to expose the goalkeeper to near impossible situations," Kehoe said. "It's an awful thing for a kid to go through, especially during his senior year."

He said of Branding, who has played exceptionally well, "I keep telling them (the team) that he's only as good as the people who play in front of him," Kehoe said.

Through the eight games North has played, Branding has continued to display his talent in the net. "He's made some saves that, well, they just border on fantastic. He played a superb game," Kehoe said. He added that he often cannot fathom how Branding holds onto some of the saves he makes the dives, the leaps and the saves of shots hit directly at the North goalkeeper are especially incredible. North had Pattonville this afternoon at 4. Only the varsity teams will play.

Kahoks edge Steelers with 4th quarter field goal

COLLINSVILLE — While Collinsville's and Granite City North's football teams were sitting in their locker rooms during halftime of their game Friday evening, a thunderstorm swept across the Kahok's football bowl.

The rains started before 8:30 p.m., and an hour later, officials postponed the second half of the game until Saturday. That was the best thing that could have happened to the Kahoks.

Collinsville, well-rested after a 23-hour halftime, only needed Tom Motin's 38 yard field goal in the fourth quarter to supplement its tough defense and defeat the Steelers 3-0 Saturday.

Motin got the game winning field goal against Edwardsville last week as Collinsville won 13-10 in the season opener for both teams.

Both Collinsville coach El Eschman and Granite North coach Tom Wyrostek thought the rain-delayed second half helped the Kahoks.

"The postponing of the game definitely was an advantage for us," Eschman said. "They play a power offense, and it would have been easier for them to move the ball on us on a wet and muddy field than it would have been for us to move the ball."

"If we had to play it in the rain, it would have definitely been an advantage for them," Eschman added. Wyrostek thought the delay helped Collinsville in a different way.

"The rain helped because we were starting to tire them out late in the second quarter. They had a chance to rest and get ready to play just one half tonight (Saturday)," Wyrostek said.

Indeed, North was starting to get the best of Collinsville before the rains came Friday. The game had been a stiff defensive battle all the way, but on North's last drive of the first half, the Steelers put things together.

"If we had to play it in the rain, North received the ball and moved ball from its 20 to the Kahok 42 on just two plays — a 25 yard run by fullback Derren DePew and a 17 yard pass from sophomore quarterback Shane Cole to Terry Rujaewitz.

The Steelers continued to move the ball down to Collinsville's five yard line, but the drive ended with 17 seconds left when Collinsville defensive end Keith Ellis intercepted one of Cole's passes at the six yard line.

"I didn't think he could kick that far. He's a good kicker, but I didn't expect him to make that one."

Tom Wyrostek
Steeler football coach

Cole threw the ball to avoid being sacked, but even with the sack, the Steelers would have been in excellent field position for a field goal attempt by DePew.

Eschman didn't think the Steelers' last drive was a sign of weakness on Collinsville's part, nevertheless, he was glad to see the second half postponed.

The heavy rains saturated the field and nearby lightning made the field hazardous for play.

When the two teams started over Saturday, the outcome was nearly the same. The third quarter was a tough defensive battle. In the fourth quarter, North made mistakes which gave the game to Collinsville.

Motin punted the ball to the Steelers' three yard line with 10:02 to go in the game. Collinsville forced North back to the one, and DePew had to punt from the back of the endzone. DePew's 41 yard punt put Collinsville on North's 42 yard line.

The critical mistake of the game came when North's pass was called for roughing the passer on the second play of the series. That moved the ball from the 40 to the 25 and gave Collinsville a first down.

Although the Kahoks only gained three yards in the next series of downs, they were in good enough field position to give Motin a chance to win the game.

Motin, who had missed a 33 yard field goal attempt in the third quarter, cleared the 38 yard field goal.

"I didn't think he could kick that far," Wyrostek said. "He's a good kicker, but I didn't expect him to make that one."

Eschman wanted the Kahoks to score a touchdown, and if it wanted to try the field goal only if the Kahoks were inside the 15 and wasn't close to a first down. Collinsville wasn't quite that close, but the attempt was made anyway. North had one more chance to tie or win the game. North halfback Al Pregel got the Steelers inside the 50 with a series of short runs. Cole passed to John Kindle to move the Steelers from the Kahoks' 46 to their 31, but three plays later, Pregel mishandled the lateral and fumbled the ball to the Kahoks with 33 seconds left.

Eschman was surprised the Steelers kept running instead of letting DePew tie the game. "DePew was hitting shots from the 45 yard line over the posts. I thought it would have been a tough advantage to have him kick it."

"We had a couple of chances to score, but we made too many mistakes. You can't make those mistakes near the goal when you got to make a score," Wyrostek said.

North had 185 total yards compared to Collinsville's 102, and Wyrostek thought North's pass defense was much stronger. Yet, Wyrostek was bitter.

"Whether a loss is by three points or by 30 points is not the point. There's not much good if you can't score, and we haven't scored in two games."

Pregel was the game's top rusher with 58 yards. Collinsville's Bret Holten had 63 yards.

North, 0-2 for the season, hosts Mascoutah Friday and Collinsville, 2-0 so far, hosts Roxana Friday.

Warriors fall to O'Fallon, 41-0

of the Press-Record

O'FALLON — Things are not going well for Granite City High School South's football team. Saturday afternoon, in a rain delayed game from Friday evening, the Warriors lost their second game of the season to O'Fallon 41-0.

It was the second game in as many weeks that the Warriors have been shutout. Last week, against Belleville East, the Warriors lost 35-0. Saturday's delayed victory was O'Fallon's second of the season. Last week, the Panthers defeated Mt. Vernon shutting out the Rams 19-0.

For the Warriors, it was the same song with a new verse—ineffective blocking and tackling proved fatal to the Warrior cause.

A disgusted Warrior head coach Jerry McKechan summed up his team's performance.

"We've gone eight quarters now, and we haven't scored," McKechan said. "There's not a whole lot of effort out there from our offensive line," he said.

McKechan stopped short of naming those players he was critical of, but did say his team would be going back to the basics Monday — blocking and tackling.

"We might lose some kids after this coming week's practices, but if they don't want to work to win, we'll get some kids who do," McKechan said. "It shouldn't be this way," he said. "John (Linhart) running for his life out there. In most cases the line's not giving him enough time to set up (to pass)."

What few instances Linhart did have, he was 16 of 35 on both days, he passed for 168 yards. He was sacked seven times and threw two interceptions.

"We've gone eight quarters now and we haven't scored. There's not a whole lot of effort out there from our offensive line."

Jerry McKechan
Warrior football coach

South managed 38 yards rushing, but gave up 37 yards in quarterback sacks for a net rushing total of one yard.

For the Panthers, however, it was a different story. O'Fallon managed 208 yards on offense, 109 of those yards coming on five of the nine passing completions by Panther quarterback Todd McClure.

The leading rusher of the game by far was O'Fallon's Alan Scott who rushed for 165 yards on 24 carries. Troy Robinson, Scott's counterpart in the Panther backfield, ran for 62 yards on nine carries.

The Panthers managed 17 first downs, with three of those coming on defensive penalties. South managed nine first downs, with three of those coming on defensive penalties.

Before Friday night's torrential downpour and electrical storm, which eventually postponed the game with 17 seconds remaining in the first half, the Panthers had scored three touchdowns to lead the Warriors 21-0.

O'Fallon scored on their first possession of the game as Robinson ran around the right side from 10 yards out.

Todd Stone's extra point conversion gave the Panthers a lead that was never threatened.

The Panthers scored again on their second possession from six yards out. O'Fallon moved the ball from their own 35 yard line in 10 plays before Scott took the third and six count into the end zone.

Following O'Fallon's second possession, South mustered its most productive drive of the game. Darrell Elmore returned the Panther kickoff to the 37 yard line where the Warriors went to work. The drive started beautifully with completed passes to Jon Frangoulis and Ken Portell and a run by Frangoulis. But, the drive stalled on holding and encroachment penalties. The then faltering drive ended when the Panther's Mark Warack intercepted a Linhart pass intended for Rich Momphard.

O'Fallon's third touchdown came with just 1:07 remaining in the first half when Scott ran from two yards out around the left side.

The Panthers scored twice in the resumed third quarter Saturday—both passes from McClure to Warack. The first came with 5:10 remaining in the third as Warack ran an out pattern in the end zone. The second came just 3 minutes and 51 seconds later when Warack ran post pattern in the end zone. O'Fallon's conversion attempt, however, failed.

The final Panther touchdown came with just 3:02 remaining on the clock. Stone, who had replaced, McClure as the Panther quarterback bailed his way in for the score. The conversion was good.

In the waning minutes of the game, the Warriors moved the ball with success. The Warriors took the ball at their own 31 yard line and moved across midfield to O'Fallon's 47 before time expired.

All but one of the 11 plays in that drive were passes to either gutsy Tom Adamitis, who caught the ball with no regard for his body, or Bob Dietrich or Portell.

The Warriors travel to Edwardsville this Friday to take on the Tigers. Kick off time is 8 p.m.

Polls rate Warrior kickers first

The Granite City South soccer team was rated first again this week in the "Chicago Star" High School Newsletter" top 15 poll. The Warriors received top honors in both the coaches and writers poll, and also were named the newsletter's "Team of the Week" on the basis of winning the Glenbrook North "Spartan Soccer Bowl."

Granite North is ranked 14th in the writers poll. North, South and Collinsville are the only three teams from Southern Illinois ranked in the top 15 in the most recent poll.

The newsletter, which provides weekly information including statistics and outstanding players, included South goalkeeper, Jeb Blasingame and Granite's "goalie greats."

Blasingame was credited with three "great" games — two from the tournament, the 2-0 win over New Trier and the 1-0 win over Glenbrook North, and the Warrior's 4-0 shutout against Granite North.

Blasingame was the only goalkeeper to be credited with three exceptional games.

Steeler spikers win consolation bracket

WOOD RIVER — The Granite City High School North volleyball team won the consolation bracket of the Wood River Volleyball Tournament over the weekend.

The Steeler spikers lost to host school Wood River 16-14 and 15-6 in the opening round of the tournament Friday, but came back with victories over Triad and Madison Saturday to win the consolation bracket.

Against Triad, the Steelers started off slow, losing the first game 15-13, but came back to win both the second and third games 15-11 and 15-8 respectively.

Against Madison for the consolation championship, the Steelers swept the best of three in the first two games, defeating the Trojanettes 15-13 and 15-10.

Steeler volleyball coach Paula Wise was understandably ecstatic.

"It was great," Miss Wise said. "This is the first volleyball trophy North's ever received. The girls played well," she said. "I'm real proud of them."

The Steelers are scheduled to play E. St. Louis Sr. this evening, but due to the teacher's strike the game will probably be forfeited. This Wednesday, the Steelers square off against cross town rival Granite City South at South. Action begins at 6:30 p.m.

Dallas stymies Cardinals in second half, win 24-7

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — The Dallas Cowboys, America's football team, displayed the kind of offensive firepower Sunday afternoon that helped them capture national popularity as they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 24-7 at Busch Stadium.

Before a sellout crowd of 51,392, the visitors from the Lone Star State held the Cardinals at bay in the second half while Cowboy quarterback Danny White picked apart the Cardinal secondary.

It was the same Cardinal defense that held the New Orleans Saints to a single touchdown only a week ago. Only this time, Dallas had succeeded in finding the weakness in the Cardinal defense that New Orleans hadn't. And, the end result — the Cardinals fell suspect to Dallas.

Through the first half, however, before Dallas found St. Louis' Achilles' heel, it was an even contest. Both teams retired to the locker rooms at a 7-7 tie. Dallas was the first to score, only 6:39 into the second quarter. White passed to tight end Doug Cosbie in the end zone to break what had been until then a scoreless tie.

St. Louis evened up the score in the final minute of the half as Lomax hit wide receiver Pat Tilley.

Cardinal fans had only one opportunity to celebrate a touchdown Sunday: Tilley's reception in the end zone was the first and last time the Cardinal offense penetrated the Dallas defense for a score.

Dallas, however, made hay with St. Louis' secondary in the second half. While connected for two touchdowns, one in each remaining quarter. On each of Dallas' scoring plays, left cornerback, Jeff Griffin was the Cardinal defender.

"I don't think we can blame Jeff for those touchdowns," Jim Hanifan, Cardinal head coach, said. "Both of those (Cowboy passes) were exceptional, they were right on the numbers."

Not all of the blame for Sunday's loss can be attributed to the defense — the offense was equally as lean in productivity.

In the first half, the Cardinal offense rushed for a total of 33 yards. The Cowboys had a similarly difficult time the first half, rushing for only 45 yards. Most of Dallas' yards (34) were generated by Tony Dorsett.

The difference, however, was Dallas recovered in the second half. St. Louis didn't.

Dallas' final rushing figures were 133 yards on 33 carries. St. Louis managed 62 yards on 23 carries.

St. Louis completed 11 first downs in the first half to Dallas' nine, but fell short of the Cowboys' total offensive output. The Cowboys managed 193 yards on offense the first half to St. Louis' 150. Still, it was a good first half for the Cardinals, despite the statistics.

St. Louis quarterback, Neil Lomax, seemed to like himself again, scrambling, evading, would-be tacklers — as he led the Cardinals in rushing the first half with three runs totaling 10 yards.

St. Louis hopes of going ahead fell to the turf with an incomplete pass to Ottis Anderson during the Cardinals second possession of the third quarter. On third and three on St. Louis' 25 yard line, Lomax's pass to Anderson went off Anderson's fingertips. Had Anderson caught the ball, it's possible he could have gone all the way for a touchdown, or would he?

"I just misjudged it," said Anderson after the game. "I was off balance. Even if I had caught the ball, I don't know if I would have been able to make it to the end zone. Both of my calves were cramping up," Anderson said.

Although those who look for turning points in contests such as this one believe that to be the turning point of the game, Hanifan and Anderson thought otherwise.

"We were still in the game after that," Anderson said.

"Sure, it would have been nice to have that one back," Hanifan said, "but that didn't take the wind out of our sails," he said. "The score was even at that point."

St. Louis and Dallas might have been tied at that point, but by the end of Dallas' next possession, St. Louis had slipped seven points behind, 14-7.

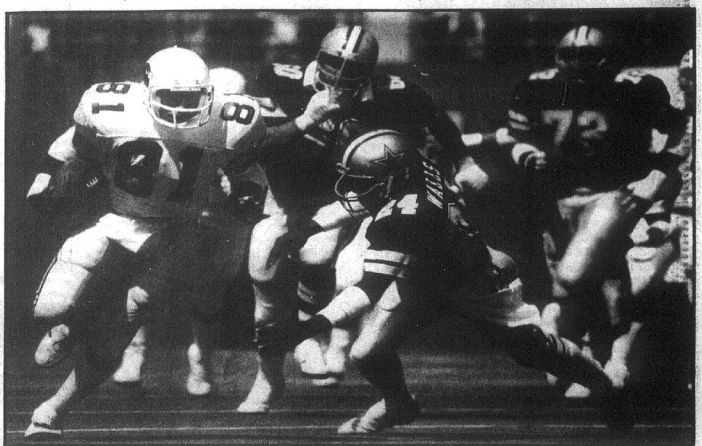

On Dallas' next possession, a series of nine plays covering 81 yards, the Cowboys scored their second touchdown. A 34-yard pass from White to Ron Springs set up the score. Billy Joe DuPree scored the touchdown on an end around on the next play.

Lightning struck again, and in the same place, in the first play of the fourth quarter as White threw to Drew Pearson in the end zone. Dallas scored for the second time in seven minutes. Again, White had challenged Griffin, and again Dallas made the right decision.

From that point on things soured for St. Louis. On St. Louis' next possession, the Cardinals faked a punt. It worked last year against Dallas, but not this time. Roy Green took the short snap up the center. Dallas defenders were waiting for it. Green went down and the Cards came up short.

Dallas capitalized with the field position left them by the Cardinals' fake punt attempt.

Following a Dallas drive that began

TRYING TO GET AWAY. Roy Green (81) of the St. Louis Cardinals tries to get out of the reach of cornerback Emerson Walls of the

at St. Louis' 40 yard line after the fake punt attempt, Dallas moved the ball to the St. Louis seven before the Cowboy drive stalled. On a fourth and four situation, Rafael Septien booted a 25 yard field goal with less than eight minutes remaining.

If there was a glimmer of hope of St. Louis catching Dallas prior to the field goal, it had been dashed by Septien's field goal. Cardinal fans head for the exits.

Overall, Hanifan said he was encouraged by his team's performance. "We dropped some passes," Hanifan said, "it's one of those things. We moved the ball pretty well and I think the offensive line did an extremely good job against Dallas' defense," Hanifan said.

Clemson defeats Cougars 2-1 in Nike finale

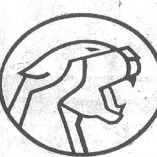

By AL BARNES

For the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The Clemson University soccer Tigers took advantage of two glaring defensive lapses by the Cougars in Sunday's first half to defeat Southern Illinois U. at Edgewoodville, 2-1, in the championship game of the Third Annual Nike Tournament.

The game's result almost certainly will reverse the national rankings of the two United States collegiate soccer giants. SIUE had entered the most ranked Number One in the country while Clemson was No. 2.

The title game was a bitterly fought contest from start to finish, but the Clemson victory over the Cougars was tarnished just a little by the fact that SIUE was playing its second tournament game in less than 24 hours. Saturday night, you see, the Cougars had to battle for a full 90 minutes and almost two 10-minute overtime to edge a brilliant Penn State Nittany Lions eleven, 2-1. And, then with that victory for Coach Bob Guetker's SIUE kickers coming on a direct penalty kick with only two seconds remaining on the stadium clock.

Physically, the Clemson U. Tigers, who had breezed to a 4-0 victory Friday night over Hartwick College before the rain storm hit to cancel out temporarily ... SIUE's game with Penn State, was much fresher Sunday afternoon against SIUE in the title game and jumped out to a first-half 2-0 lead over the obviously tired Cougars.

However, the SIUE eleven did not give up and fought back to within one goal on a neat goal by Bill Stallings on a nifty pass from Dan Malloy ... at 67:13 into the game.

Stallings, with just 15 minutes left in the game was just barely wide on an indirect penalty kick.

The Clemson victory gave the Tigers a 3-1 lead in the two school's national inter-sectional battle, but the Cougars consider themselves the leader in the series since their one victory was their 3-2 decision over the South Carolina team in the national championship game at Tampa Bay in 1979.

In national tournament confrontations, the two schools are 1-1 though: The Tigers defeated the Cougars at Berkeley, Calif., in 1976 in the finals when Hartwick College, also a participant in the meet here at SIUE, captured the championship.

The Clemson offense was the lucky beneficiary of two glaring defensive lapses by the Cougars in Sunday's first half; both times it should have been a simple matter of clearing the ball from in front of their goal.

And, talking about that national championship game at Tampa Bay in 1979, the Tigers' best scorer that game, was striker Nnamdi Nwokocha, a giant of a player for a soccer player, who took advantage of the Cougars' defensive miscue by blasting in a loose ball at 16:33 for an unassisted goal.

Mo Tinsley, who was chosen as the tournament's Most Valuable Player, gave the Tigers a 2-0 advantage at 40:13 on a pass from Vincent Chika.

And, while the Cougars manage to outshoot the Tigers 8-7 in the first half, the SIUE team never, really, appeared to be much in the game in the early going.

The Guetker players appeared weary and slow to react. In fact, the Tigers could have easily been out in front at the intermission by a 3-0 score if Nwokocha hadn't missed on an open goal shot at 29:10 which the SIUE keeper, Ed Gettemeier, didn't have a ghost of a chance of stopping.

On the other side of the coin, too, the Cougars could have tied it up at 15 minutes to go if Stallings hadn't just barely missed an indirect penalty kick.

With so much riding on the game's outcome, it was perhaps just natural that the actions resulted in some rough play causing the foul issue seven yellow tickets ... five for the Tigers and two for the Cougars.

And, speaking of fouls the Cougars called for 15 miscues, five the first half and ten the last 45 minutes. Clemson was called on 33 infractions, 15 the first half and 23 the second.

Corner kicks nearly came out even, but the Tigers had

Q. Would you explain about the new certificates being offered at banks. I understand there are two new ones.

A. You're probably referring to the three-month certificate and the so-called "wild card" certificate, both of which became available this past May. The three-month CD requires a minimum investment of $7,500 and pays the same interest rate as three-month treasury bills. These CDs mature faster, however, there is no check-writing privilege, and there is a penalty for early withdrawal. The three-month CD is a safe, high-yielding three month investment. The "wild card" certificate allows you to lock-in a high interest rate for a period of three years. Minimum deposits vary, and the yield of the certificates will be about the same as those on treasury notes of similar maturity. They are called "wild card" certificates because the issuing bank sets its interest rate on the certificate.

LEE CASTRO, the gospel singing troubadour from Nashville, Tenn., will lead a gospel crusade at Grace Baptist Church, 2600 Edwards St., this week. Nightly services at 7 o'clock started Sunday and will continue through Sunday, Sept. 26, according to the Rev. Bob Jones, pastor. Castro is a Spanish speaking Mexican-American who grew up in the ghettos of Corpus Christi, Texas, and later became a full time evangelist after learning to speak English fluently. He now preaches, sings and plays the guitar at worldwide meetings.

Offer course in remodeling

In the last 20 years or more, your family has tripled in size and you need more room. However, your bank account and credit rating won't tolerate the trauma of purchasing a larger home. What can you do?

Mike Guerra, chief architectural draftsman in Plant Operations at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, points out that there are several options. "A lot of time it is more practical to renovate or add to a home than it is to buy a new one," he said. "As your family expands, you can expand the house to fit your needs," Guerra added.

In the past, he said, rather than renovate or change the house, people just moved. However, with interest rates and cost of real estate and building materials rising, many people are discovering it is no longer feasible to buy another house.

During the fall quarter, the SUE Office of Continuing Education will offer a non-credit course in home renovations and additions. Guerra will instruct the class.

Classes will meet from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. in Room 913 of Peck Classroom Building, beginning Oct. 7. Registration is $35.

The course will focus on building design and engineering, with an emphasis on layout and design, building material, estimating project costs, and techniques for either self-construction or sub-contracting the job.

Other topics will include heating, plumbing, electrical work, framing, concrete work, waterproofing, and finishing walls, carpets, windows and doors.

Guerra said coursework will include information relating to newer homes as well as older ones, and should be of interest to anyone interested in learning how to derive more space from an existing home.

He said the lectures will include information on the addition of garages, porches, bedrooms, or family rooms.

Madison Council acts to demolish old building, widen McCambridge

by DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

A resolution for the demolition or repair of a building located at 1234 Grand Ave. was approved by the Madison City Council last week and ordinances were passed by the aldermen to prepare for the second phase of widening a section of Illinois Route 203, beginning at McCambridge Avenue and Sixth Street to extend to Rhodes Street.

Responding to a recommendation from John Dutko, building inspector for the city, that property owned by Anthony and Lucille Puer, 1234 Grand Ave. be condemned, the aldermen passed a resolution to notify the owners by written notice to demolish or repair the house within 15 days of the notice or legal steps will be taken to raze the "dangerous and unsafe building."

Immediate concern of the council is the health and fire hazard of the real estate, which has been empty for 25 years and has deteriorated so badly that the cost of restoring it would be more than the estimated value of the house.

"The house is separated from the neighbors by three feet on the north side and four feet on the south side and, in its present condition, presents a constant fire hazard to either house," Dutko said in his letter to the council.

The resolution states, "the building inspector is authorized and directed to demolish said building."

The initial road improvement project, approved in June, was for the intersection of McCambridge Avenue and Edwardsville Road. Work on this section was to improve the intersection by widening and resurfacing the existing pavement to provide four through traffic lanes of 12 feet minimum width from Rhodes Street on McCambridge Avenue north and east through the intersection to McNair Avenue on Edwardsville Road, a distance of 815 feet.

This second phase, under the direction of the Illinois Department of Transportation, is to improve the intersection of Illinois Route 203 (McCambridge Avenue, Nameoki Road District) with Sixth Street by widening the roadbed on the westerly side, from its present typical width of 40 feet to a width of 57 feet, face to face of curbs, providing for four 11-foot traffic lanes and one 11-foot left turn lane, starting 650 feet south of the centerline of the intersection and extending north of the intersection 720 feet to Rhodes Street.

The project consists of replacing the existing curbs and gutters, reconstructing intersections and entrances, replacing disturbed sidewalks, modifying the traffic signals, resurfacing McCambridge Avenue the length of the project, placing pavement markings for lane designations and crosswalks, and all other work necessary to complete the improvement.

According to the agreement, the state will prepare plans and specifications, receive bids, award the contract, furnish engineering inspection during construction and pay all costs, subject to partial reimbursement by the city. Estimated cost of the entire improvement, including traffic signals is $312,600 for construction costs and $46,890 for engineering, a total of $359,490.

Early detection vital in scoliosis treatment

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Tonya and Tanya Mann, 7-year-old twin daughters of Mrs. Veronica Mann of Granite City, are glad their mother believes in the old saying — "As the twig is bent so will the tree be inclined" — but want the words to create her own version, "as the twig is bent so grows the child."

Mrs. Mann explained that while the girls recently were visiting their grandfather, the Rev. Winfred Barnes, formerly of Granite City, a physician-friend of the minister noticed what he believed was a slight curvature of the spine in Tonya, one of the twins.

Learning from her father of his friend's suspicions and having heard of the health problems frequently caused by an abnormal curvature of the spine (scoliosis), Mrs. Mann took Tonya to Dr. E. L. Strotheide, the family's chiropractor here.

Upon seeing Tonya and verifying such a condition existed, the Granite City chiropractor became concerned about her twin sister, Tanya, and informed Mrs. Mann that Tanya also should be carefully examined as scoliosis tends to run in families.

After visual observations, followed by studying and evaluating X-rays of the twin girls, it was determined that both girls had slight curvatures of the spine, but not of severe proportions.

Although serious problems do not presently exist in the twins, Dr. Strotheide pointed out that most cases of scoliosis do not fully manifest themselves until the beginning of the puberty growth spurt, which in girls takes place between the ages of 10 and 14.

The doctor also explained that both Tonya and Tanya will require periodic re-examination because scoliosis can, in extreme cases, suddenly go from slight to severe within as short a time as six months.

"I think Tonya and Tanya are going to be just fine," Dr. Strotheide said. "Their spinal deviations are so slight that I don't anticipate any problems," he added.

The story of Tonya and Tanya Mann ends on a happy note. But this conclusion is not so for two percent of the adolescent population, whose problems develop into advanced scoliosis.

Scoliosis is four times as common in girls as boys and the "dangerous" time period for its onset is between 10 and 14, Dr. Strotheide said.

As recently as just a few years ago, many girls had advanced spinal deformity before the condition was recognized by the child or her parents, he noted.

The Granite City chiropractor voiced his whole-hearted approval of the annual in-school scoliosis detection clinics conducted here. "The school district and the school nurses are doing a great job and have contributed immensely to the early detection and, therefore, the early treatment of scoliosis," Dr. Strotheide said.

PRETTY TWINS Tonya, left, and Tanya Mann are not in the least bothered by the replica of a human spine held by Dr. E. L. Strotheide, a proponent of early scoliosis detection clinics, who is showing the girls how scoliosis (curvature of the spine) can result in slight to severe spinal deformities if undetected at an early age.

"Scoliosis, if advanced, can pose several extremely serious problems, the first being actual pressure upon the heart and lungs. Severe scoliosis distorts the rib cage, thereby reducing the space these organs require."

"Secondly, severe scoliosis can cause actual disfigurement. As the spine rotates, the rib cage can be drawn back on one side, resulting in 'rib hunch,' a condition that is seen in advanced cases."

"Thirdly, there is the psychological effect, especially in young girls who lose confidence in themselves, thinking that everyone notices their deformities. Although many cases aren't readily noticed by the untrained eye," he added.

Dr. Strotheide maintains, however, that even the "untrained eye" of a parent can catch many developing conditions of scoliosis and suggests the following "at home" observations which may be made in order to detect the ailment.

"Have the child stand straight in a relaxed fashion, facing away from you with his arms at his side. Check the level of the shoulders which should be sloping at the same angle. Should one shoulder be lower than the other, there could be a problem."

"Check the level of the hips. They also should be level, not one higher than the other. Look at the relaxed arms and notice if the fingers on one hand are even with the fingers on the other hand."

"Turn the child around and repeat a check of the same items from the front position."

Look at the child from the side view. Does one shoulder blade project farther back than the other? The shoulder blades should be equal.

"Does the child have a pronounced swayback or forward curve of the lower back, or does the abdomen protrude excessively (not due to excessive fat)? Does the child have a 'round back' with the shoulders appearing to 'hunch' forward?"

Dr. Strotheide recommends having the child bend forward at the waist, with his arms hanging loosely towards the floor and the palms of the hands together.

"Notice the spine and ribs. Is one side of the rib cage higher than the other? Both sides of the rib cage should be even," the doctor said.

He pointed out that with these few simple at home tests, early detection of scoliosis can be made in a great majority of cases.

Dr. Strotheide also notes there are other conditions that could cause positive findings in the above tests and that anxious parents should consult their family chiropractor or medical doctor to confirm or deny their suspicions of scoliosis.

"Treatment is essential and the sooner the better," he said. "When scoliosis is diagnosed early enough, chiropractic manipulation combined with exercises can be of great help in halting further deterioration and worsening of the curvature."

"If the condition is more advanced, then a 'Milwaukee' brace may be needed, which must be worn approximately 22 hours a day," Dr. Strotheide explained.

Such a brace fits from the pelvis to the patient's chin and back of the head. In extremely severe cases, where compression of organs is of concern, the need for surgery may be indicated, he said.

"Early detection is the vital issue in scoliosis and is the cornerstone of successful case management," the local chiropractor stressed.

County votes to install device to control courthouse energy

By JIM SCHLUETER

In an effort to cut back Madison County's power bill, the county board has voted to install a monitoring device to control the amount of electricity used at the courthouse.

Although Director of Administration Mary Kane could not come up with a dollar figure, she said the county could get a 20 percent cost savings with the monitoring system. The county's power bill was $465,000 last year.

The county currently has a Honeywell Delta 1000 energy monitoring device at the county jail, and it will now expand the Honeywell device's usage into the courthouse.

The new system will cost the county $34,122, with $17,070 going to outfit the courthouses with sensors, and $17,052 going to upgrade the system at the jail.

According to Mrs. Kane, the system will keep the county from exceeding a power usage limit of 4,000 kilowatt hours. If the county ever exceeds that amount of electricity usage, its rate will go up permanently, according to Mrs. Kane.

In other matters, Mrs. Kane said a resolution calling for a new phone system from Illinois Bell was not presented to the board because of some problems with Bell that need to be worked out, according to Mrs. Kane.

"With something as big as this, we're going to make sure," Mrs. Kane said. The county's buildings and finance committees had voted last week to send the resolution for the new phone system to the county board.

The county also accepted bids on the alteration of Annex III on Hillside Avenue in Edwardsville for the data processing department and the repairs to the courthouse roof. R. W. Boecker of Hamel submitted the low bid of $32,600 for the alterations of Annex III, and was awarded the project. After the project's completion, the county's data processing department will move from the basement of the old Edwardsville post office building to Annex III, which also houses the county's manpower offices.

Cahokia Mounds history topic of historical group

At its first fall meeting, approximately 50 members and friends of the Old Sixth Mile Historical Society heard Miss Elaine Svezia present a lecture, illustrated with slides, on Cahokia Mounds.

Miss Judy Reidelberger, a member of the Venice Public Library Board, welcomed the group to the auditorium and introduced the staff.

Miss Svezia was introduced by Marion Morris who, along with Mrs. Morris, served as the hosts for the evening and provided the refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Elaine Svezia, born and reared in Venice, has been a Site Interpretative Specialist with the Mounds project for three years. She has a BA degree from Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville in general anthropology and a MS degree in Education from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale. She is in charge of all the educational programs at the project and also serves as the Volunteer Coordinator.

In her "spare" time, she teaches sociology and anthropology at Belleville Area College.

All three site interpreters, according to Miss Svezia, work for the Illinois Department of Conservation and each has special duties. Since hers are educational, another, skilled in photography techniques, prepares the exhibits, and the third is in charge of the field school. Cahokia Mounds is the largest prehistoric Indian village in the U.S. Its importance is registered in the fact that textbooks are now including material on the site and the staff receives many page proofs to be reviewed for accuracy.

According to Miss Svezia there were four cultures of Indians before there was any written record. These were the Paleo, the Archaic, the Woodland, and the Mississippian. The first, the Paleo, is assumed to have come from Asia across the bridge of land that originally connected that continent with our present State of Alaska. This was many thousands of years ago.

During the time period of the last culture, the Mississippian, Cahokia Mounds was established. This was still hundreds of years ago and this group, as well as the others, depended mainly on crops and some travel. Horses were not on this continent until brought in by the Spaniards in the 1500's.

Cahokia Mounds has been reduced in size and destroyed drastically by the development of highways and cities in the area. Originally the site contained six square miles and 100 mounds, while today there is only 1300 acres containing 45 mounds.

Just as we have cities surrounded by suburbs, so did the Indian settlements. There are, or have been, 26 Indian mounds in St. Louis called satellite communities; one of these areas is named Mound City.

The mounds were made by the Indians and in the process of creating them, a bucketful of dirt at a time, "borrow pits" were created. These are simply the areas where the dirt was obtained for the mounds which in turn created the pits or lakes. Many of these have almost disappeared through the silt accumulation.

The group was told that there were several types of mounds. The most common type is the platform or flat top type. Another type is a conical type and is known to be a burial mound. A third type is a ridgetop or marker mound.

Monk's Mound is the largest and is 14 acres around the base and 100 feet tall. It is a platform type, consists of four terrace levels, and was built over a period of 300 years. It was built in 14 different stages before it reached its peak height and size.

Also in this mound were buried 53 women between the ages of 15-25. There were 60 arrowheads. Many of the other objects buried here indicated widespread trading took place because the various materials found there were foreign to this area.

Miss Svezia said other stages of building Monk's Mound, it is estimated it took from 15 to 20,000 logs to rebuild the wall each time. The destruction of all these trees probably created quite a cultural change in their daily food provisions. The wall also divided the elite class from the poorer class with one staying inside the wall and being protected from the other forces.

After seeing the slides showing the method of preparing the grid, identifying areas in the diggings, many persons said they must go see that area in their own backyards. A couple of final statements made by Miss Svezia jolted the audience. She said that past cultures are deciphered through material they have left behind and ours will be also. Also the excavated areas are filled back in to preserve them and remove the danger of persons getting hurt.

Miss Svezia invited the audience to join the Museum Society, to visit the area, and to participate in some of the special events that are offered at different times.

Artifacts and a few facilities were described and passed around for inspection. In response to a question, Miss Svezia said that the artifacts discovered at Cahokia Mounds are on loan to museums throughout the country. Eventually, Cahokia gets its own museum, they will be recalled to this area.

Every state, except North Dakota, is represented by visitors to the area and many foreign countries as well. The fact that the Mounds has been nominated for the World Register List this year is attracting many visitors. This list recognizes significant sites throughout the world. There are only nine U.S. sites on the list at present.

During a brief business meeting conducted by President Don Gargac, it was announced that the group now has a not-for-profit status from the IRS so all donations are tax-exempt.

Lorraine Bischoff announced that plans are finalizing for the Antique Show and Sale to be held on Oct. 23-24 at St. Elizabeth's Cafeteria, Pontoon and Johnson roads. Tickets bought in advance cost $1.50, while at the door they will be $2.00 for the entire show. Twenty-six varied exhibitors have returned contracts for the show. Indiana, Carthage, Pittsfield, Decatur, St. Louis County, and other towns. This is not a flea market or a crafts show, she added.

Membership fees are due for the current year and should be paid by Oct. 1 to be a member in good standing, the president said.

The Oct. 4 meeting will be held at Tr-Mor Bowl with the introduction to Delta Kappa Epsilon. A Beckman challenging you to "Identify These Antiques." Mrs. Beckman's family arrived in this area many years ago, by raft. This carried the family's furniture, livestock, poultry, and all their possessions. Everyone is invited to attend, according to the president.

Special guest at Shrine game

Southern Illinois Shriners will host a very special guest this weekend.

When Erin Crull was born 6 years ago, she had no fibula in either leg and her feet were without ankles. Today, because of the Shriners' hospitals ability to help, she walks — and even roller skates — on her new feet, seated to hold her legs inside a B.K. Prothesis.

The daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Bruce Crull of Scott Air Force Base, Erin is in school and doing fine in all the other fields of today's youth. She is not embarrassed by her lack of leg support that most children have, yet the prothesis she wears allows her to be most aggressive.

The doctors told the parents after her birth that at least 10 operations would be needed to try to build ankles and give support to her legs. The cost would be about $20,000 each and would be over a period of years. Being in the Air Force at the time of her birth, Sgt. Crull was without the funds needed for such a long program, so he felt he would have to wait.

When Erin was three months old, someone asked him if he had talked to the Shrine hospital about his daughter. He was not familiar with the Shrine, but living in the southern part of the United States, he went to the hospital in Shreveport, La., to inquire.

They brought Erin in, took quite some time in planning what to do, then operated to help build her limbs so they would fit into this permanent cast, even to adding toes that made it look real.

Last year, there were 386 applications from Southern Illinois sent to the St. Louis Shrine for care, at no cost to the family, since the Shriners do it for free. The Shrine budget this year is $82 million dollars for the 21 hospitals.

Free CPR classes beginning Sept. 28

Each year, heart attacks account for more than 350,000 deaths which occur before the victim reaches the hospital. It doesn't have to be that way.

What is done for a victim within the first few minutes after a heart attack may determine survival or death. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) could make the difference, and anyone can learn it.

CPR is a basic life-saving technique performed after a person has suffered "cardiac arrest" — that is, after the heart has stopped beating. It provides emergency life support until more advanced support is available, through a combination of chest compression and mouth-to-mouth breathing. A trained instructor, certified by the American Heart Association, can teach CPR. It takes hours, but it could mean a lifetime.

Free CPR classes will again be offered at St. Elizabeth Medical Center beginning Tuesday, Sept. 28, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Wiseman Room on the first floor of SEMC. This program will be offered monthly (the fourth Tuesday of each month) free of charge. The Oct. 26 class and each class thereafter will be held in Pascal Hall. Interested persons may register by calling 798-3169.

Council hears police plea to reduce off-duty security fees

By GEORGEANN McGEE of the Press-Record

Two police officers told a Granite City aldermanic committee its rate hike imposed on companies using private off-hour policemen will actually cost the city more when comparing the difference between preventing a crime and responding after the fact.

Detective Craig Nomm said three of seven companies which had subscribed to city police service, cancelled after the Sept. 1 increase went into effect. The hike averaged about $2.30 an hour.

The loss of off-duty policemen on the streets will cut into the response time and effectiveness of the regular on-duty patrolmen, according to Nomm. Both he and Sergeant Roy Koberna tried to convince the city's finance committee to roll back the rates.

Last month, the committee approved higher limit-and-a-half charges for officers' services, ranging from $22.50 per hour for the lieutenant colonel to $17 per hour for a probationary patrolman. The increases are intended to cover insurance premiums and other direct costs that were being absorbed entirely by the city.

Nomm warned that two of the companies cancelling services, Jack-in-the-Box on Nameoki Road and Pantera's Pizza on Johnson Road, are located in a prime area for troublemakers. He distributed copies of the police log book for last weekend showing several calls to drive-in restaurants and youth-oriented business locations in the area.

"This is where the trouble will be," said Nomm, citing, in particular, The Kroger Co. food store parking lot, a once-popular after store hours calls to drive-in restaurants and youth-oriented business locations in the area.

After one weekend with no off-duty officers in the area, the detective noticed the difference in the police reports. "They know we're not out there... (some) kids

carry a scan (police radio)." The extra show of off-duty police officers had curtailed problems associated with rowdy Friday and Saturday night youth groups, the officers contended. Those disturbances included public urinating, drug dealing and reckless driving, according to Nomm. He said four felony arrests have been made through the direct assistance of officers stationed at the Jack-in-the-Box restaurant.

An immediate arrest, due to the close proximity of a working off-duty officer, was made after a customer was shot in the head at a nearby lounge, Nomm said, adding, "We can't stop it if we're not there."

Seventh Ward Alderman Walter Milton, finance committee chairman, said he understands the position expressed by the officers, but does not think the rate increases are too high for businesses to absorb.

Although Milton requested the two police representatives to come back after asking union members to provide an alternate financing suggestion to program to the city, such a suggestion is not likely to be forthcoming, according to Koberna.

The police sergeant said union members met Monday to discuss the loss of the part-time jobs, which provided extra income to officers. Members decided not to offer any compromise in a year the city is not offering pay raises, he said.

The city and police have not reached a contract agreement, despite months of negotiations. Their contract expired in May, but is being honored during bargaining talks.

"We think aldermen are eventually going to get calls," said Nomm, about the cut-off of off-duty policemen to the Nameoki area. "You have a right to go out there without getting propositioned."

Detective Sergeant Donald Knight also spoke out against the higher charges at the Sept. 7 council meeting.

Neither the finance committee nor the full council discussed the possibility of cutting the rate back after the officers' appeals.

The conference will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Communications Building. The conference will include a keynote address by Edwin Herr, Penn State University educator and president-elect of the Association, and a presentation by GARY W. CATTERSON, Petitioner and WANDA G. CATTERSON, Respondent, which suit is No. 82-D-1089 and is for a Dissolution of Marriage. The Respondent, WANDA G. CATTERSON is to be served by publication. Additional assessor training Legislation requiring local property tax assessment officials to receive additional training has been acted on by Gov. James B. Thompson. In addition, Thompson made changes in the bill that would have given township assessors in certain counties more time to return assessment books to the county supervisor of assessments, a delay the governor said would unreasonably extend the assessment process. "I do not believe an extension of the time for assessors to finally return assessment books to the supervisor of assessments is necessary," he said in his mandatory veto message of Senate Bill 1532. "Town assessors now have adequate time to complete their work. It is unreasonable to extend assessment cycles any further, especially when current delays in tax billings."

Courts terminate 5,150 Aug. cases

The volume of pending cases in Circuit Court, Third Judicial Circuit (Madison and Bond counties), increased during August by 326 cases, but progress was made in catching up currency in the time-consuming felony cases, which were under way only one week of jury trials, and there was a gain in currency in traffic cases, according to the Supreme Court Administrative Office's report on this circuit's performance, released last week.

In releasing the report, Willard V. "Butch" Portell, circuit clerk, noted that the report does not include the 47 cases against the Norfolk Western Railroad, which were settled in early September and will appear on next month's report.

He reported that September should be an even better month, because "The courts will be in full force with juries and all of the judges will be back from vacation."

During August, 5,476 cases were filed and 5,150 were terminated.

Following are the numbers of each major type of case filed, terminated and pending at the end of August:

Cases	Filed	Terminated	Pending
Law cases seeking more than $15,000	66	64	2036
Law cases seeking $1,000 to $15,000	34	9	380
Other cases	7	13	424
Chancery	38	35	505
Miscellaneous Remedy	41	51	518
Eminent Domain	0	2	39
Tax	0	93	839
Mental Health	30	29	97
Divorce	127	102	1047
Family	129	88	1837
Juvenile	51	44	226
Felony	68	62	392
Misdemeanor	398	305	2264
Small Claims	443	408	2184
Totals	1,482	1,359	13,730

In the traffic division, 3,185 new cases were filed during August and 3,230 were terminated, the report shows.

Of the 95 felony charges disposed of during the month, 61 were convicted of felonies, 19 charges were dismissed or consolidated with other cases, 13 were reduced to misdemeanors and two defendants were found guilty of lesser offenses. A jury found one defendant guilty of murder.

Guilty pleas during August included one for murder, two for Class X felonies, one for a Class One felony, 24 for Class Two felonies, 20 for Class Three felonies and 10 for Class Four felonies. Two were convicted by the court on felonies, one for murder and one for a Class X felony.

Felony sentences during the month included 26 percent sent to prison, five receiving probation with periodic imprisonment and 30 receiving probation or conditional discharges with other conditions.

8500 TOOLS TAKEN
Oral Wells of Magnolia, Ohio, reported Thursday at 11 p.m. that two toolboxes and tools valued at $500 had been removed from his truck while it was parked in the 1400 block of Second Street, Madison. The thief attempted to remove a radio but was unsuccessful.

Community seminar Thursday on the treatment of glaucoma

By MARIE MCKINSEY
St. Elizabeth
Medical Center

The thought of going blind is frightening. No one wants to dwell on the prospect of spending the rest of his lives in darkness. But if an eye disease like cataracts or glaucoma is developed, the awful possibility of blindness can become a reality.

Fortunately, the advances in diagnosis and treatment of those eye diseases have made it possible for many people to save their sight. The real key is early detection. The earlier the disease can be treated, the better the chance that vision can be saved, particularly with glaucoma.

According to D. Michael Rumelt, ophthalmologist on staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Barnes Hospital, and clinical instructor in ophthalmology at Washington University, glaucoma is a disease that creates a blockage in the circulation of eye fluid, causing the fluid to build up in the eye. This build-up increases the pressure inside the eye, damaging the optic nerve and causing blindness.

But if discovered early, the blockage can be surgically removed, restoring proper circulation and relieving the pressure on the optic nerve. Dr. Rumelt says that with the development of laser surgery, patients can have glaucoma surgery and go home the same day. He says the laser techniques are safe, effective, and because the patient does not have to stay overnight in the hospital, less expensive.

However, without regular checkups, some glaucoma sufferers might not know it's too late. "One form of glaucoma is called the 'silent thief of vision' because it has no symptoms," Dr. Rumelt says. It can affect people of any age and tragically, without warning, leave its victims blind. The only way to diagnose this form of glaucoma is with a testing device that measures the pressure inside the eye. This simple, painless test is often included in health screenings or eye exams.

"It cannot be emphasized enough that if you have ever been told that there is something abnormal about your eye pressure, you should check with an ophthalmologist or eye specialist as soon as possible," says Rumelt. "In acute narrow angle glaucoma, the white part of the eye becomes red and inflamed and the eye is very painful," he says. Dr.

Rumelt warns that people should not try to treat these symptoms with over-the-counter preparations.

He reports that in one case, a patient attempted to relieve these symptoms with non-prescription eye drops, only to have the eyes become worse. When the patient finally went to the doctor a few days later, it was too late. The patient was blind.

To avoid risking loss of vision because of eye disease, Dr. Rumelt advises that persons over the age of 35 have their eyes checked once a year. Those under the age of 35 should have their eyes checked every two years. Anyone who has had eye disease should follow his physician's advice regarding frequency of examinations.

Those wanting to learn more about detection and treatment of eye disease, may attend the free community seminar at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Thursday, Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. in PASCAL Hall. Dr. Rumelt will explain the recent advances in the diagnosis and treatment of cataracts and glaucoma. He will be available to answer questions following his presentation. Refreshments will be served. For reservations, those interested should call the Public Relations Department at 798-3167.

Benefit horse show Sunday

The Trailriders Saddle Club of Granite City will sponsor its third annual horse show to benefit the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission on Sunday, Sept. 28.

It will take place in the Trailriders arena on Chouteau Slough Road near Rock Road and the Chain of Rocks Canal levee. Eighteen events are planned, including haltering and pleasure, speed and novelty riding, according to Cathy Kinnard of the Madison County EOC staff.

The single entry fee is $6 and a rider may enter one or all of the events. Admission is 75 cents for spectators. Persons interested in additional information or wishing to inquire about sponsorship are calling Debbie Groeteka or Mrs. Kinnard at 1-463-0025.

Changes in status may affect SSI

People in the Madison County area who receive supplemental security income (SSI) payments must be alert to the need to promptly report any event that could have an effect on their eligibility or the amount of their payment. Oliver Holmes, Social Security district manager, said today.

Prompt reporting means the person can avoid being overpaid and having to repay money. Additionally, Holmes said, failure to make a required report can result in a severe penalty.

Events that must be reported are:

1. Change of address.
2. Any change in household, people moving in or out, any change in the way expenses are paid or shared, or a third party starts paying the bills.
3. A person enters or leaves an institution.
4. A person plans to leave the United States for 30 days or more.
5. Marriage or divorce, separation, or annulment of marriage.
6. Any change in income of any member of household; person begins working or wages increase or decrease.
7. Any change in resources owned; opening a bank account; the recipient's name or jointly with another person getting SSI payments.
8. Improvement in a blind or disabled person's condition.
9. A drug addict or alcoholic stops treatment.

Someone should report if a person cannot manage his or her own funds or if a person getting SSI payments dies, Holmes added.

Members of the clinic's board of directors and the Madison County's Health Institutions Committee were present at the meeting when Ventura was fired as the clinical director of the clinic.

Lois Scheider, clinic administrator, reportedly learned of the firing from County Clerk Evelyn Bowles of the meeting, a practice she has followed prior to all previous meetings, the administrator said.

The program involves stationing supplies and equipment on ships near troubled areas of the world. Supply lines could be established for U.S. troops much faster, since the equipment would already be in the area.

During the exercise, equipment and supplies from a ship of the prepositioning force were removed from storage and prepared for use.

Although not considered a vital staging area, Australia was chosen for the exercise because of its distance from the U.S. Time, effort and troop fatigue factors experienced during the exercise were evaluated for future operations.

Child abuse may be cited

A 5-year-old Granite City girl, whose mother had left her and three other children with a babysitter, was taken by a neighbor and a police officer to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of a swollen and draining ear at 6:40 p.m. Friday.

Police were advised the mother had left the girl and the other children, ages 8, 3 and 2, with a sitter for varying periods of time. The Illinois Children and Family Services agency was contacted.

Authorities upon examining the child found she had large bruises on the back and arms. The child also said someone had stuck a pen in her ear. She was admitted for treatment.

Arrested on three warrants

Gary T. Uristo, 22, Granite City, arrested in the 1100 block of Greenwood Street, Madison, at 11:55 p.m. Friday, was booked by Granite City police on three warrants at 12:45 a.m. Saturday upon transfer to their custody.

A warrant alleged violation of probation through failure to report to a probation officer; bond had been set at $5,000. Other warrants alleged failure to pay fines for contempt and disorderly conduct.

Madison police made the arrest after three men were discovered slumped down in the seats of a vehicle on Greenwood Street. The trio did not give a reason for being at that location.

Uristo remains in custody today.

Drug agency changes name to Piasa Health Care, Inc.

The Board of Directors of the Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency has announced its decision to change the name of the agency. The new name for the organization will be Piasa Health Care, Incorporated.

In discussing a new name, the directors decided to use "health care" to help convey the message that alcohol abuse is the nation's fourth leading health problem. Other factors cited included the need for a shorter name to aid in public recognition, and a less restrictive name that would permit the organization to broaden the scope of its activities.

The agency will continue to specialize in the prevention and treatment of alcohol and other drug abuse while investigating additional means to enhance the health and well-being of area residents.

United Way blitz Thursday

Tri-Cities Area United Way volunteers will conduct a community wide "Blitz" Thursday, Sept. 23, from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m.

About 106 United Way volunteers will "hit the streets" Thursday morning in Madison, Venice, Granite City, Mitchell and Pontoon Beach, to raise funds over the top of the 1982 United Way Campaign.

Mrs. Linda Schermer, chairman of the United Way "Blitz," has asked all businesses, merchants and employees of these businesses, as well as private donors to help make this a successful campaign effort. "If everyone in the community who is contacted on the day of our 'Blitz' will help," said Mrs. Schermer, "We can raise enough to reach the United Way Campaign goal of $825,000 this year."

This year's General Campaign volunteer working in the "Blitz" this year is donating two extra hours of time, so we can put more volunteers over the top," she added.

Volunteer solicitors will meet at the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., at 8:45 a.m. Thursday. Group vice chairmen, Bob Glik for commercial-retail, and Shirley Adams for private donors, will be distributing pledge cards and materials to each volunteer who will solicit in the Quad-City area until 11:45 a.m., returning in the afternoon and pledge cards at Glik's Department Store in Bellemeade Village and on Second Street in Madison.

This year's General Campaign Chairman Roger Higgins has asked the entire community to help make this campaign successful. Services and programs of the 15 member agencies have been utilized this last year by 1,000 people, and this number is increasing during 1982 due to the area's high unemployment rate.

Donations may be made Thursday to a United Way Volunteer or donors may mail donations to Tri-Cities Area United Way, 2021 Edison Ave., Granite City, Ill., 62040.

Cites violation of meetings act

A special meeting called Sept. 8 to discuss the tenure of Dr. Luis Ventura as head of the Madison County's tuberculosis clinic violated the Illinois Open Meetings Act because no public notice of the closed session was posted, it is alleged.

The Illinois Open Meetings Act requires that public notices be given over when meetings are to be in executive session.

Members of the clinic's board of directors and the Madison County's Health Institutions Committee were present at the meeting when Ventura was fired as the clinical director of the clinic.

Lois Scheider, clinic administrator, reportedly learned of the firing from County Clerk Evelyn Bowles of the meeting, a practice she has followed prior to all previous meetings, the administrator said.

The program involves stationing supplies and equipment on ships near troubled areas of the world. Supply lines could be established for U.S. troops much faster, since the equipment would already be in the area.

During the exercise, equipment and supplies from a ship of the prepositioning force were removed from storage and prepared for use.

Although not considered a vital staging area, Australia was chosen for the exercise because of its distance from the U.S. Time, effort and troop fatigue factors experienced during the exercise were evaluated for future operations.

Fall Foliage Trip is planned for Oct. 17

The Granite City Park District is planning the Annual Fall Foliage Trip for Sunday, Oct. 17. The trip is being planned for a leisurely drive through Southern Missouri.

The trip will consist of travel along these scenic routes, going south on Route 21, west along Route 8 and then north along Route 44.

The first stop will be Washington State Park. This scenic 1,101 acre park, traversed by the Big River, features a beautiful river valley and bluffs and fascinating Indian petroglyph rock carving believed to have been made between 100 and 1000 A.D.

The group will travel south on Route 21 through a part of the world's largest lead district at Old Mines and Potosi, Mo. Lunch will be in Potosi at the recently opened Boar's Head Lodge at approximately 11:30 a.m.

After lunch, the bus will travel west along Route 8 to the northern part of the Mark Twain National Forest into Shirley, Mo., which is the location of the Cahokia Mound Council Boy Scout Camp. Another short stop will be near St. James, Mo., at Meramec Spring Park, the site of the old Meramec Iron Works and now a wildlife refuge as well as a recreational facility.

The trip will continue south on Route 44, traversed by the Big River, features a beautiful river valley and bluffs and fascinating Indian petroglyph rock carving believed to have been made between 100 and 1000 A.D.

Fair-housing policy sought

Madison County Housing Authority officials met last week in Washington, D.C., with fair-housing officials from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in an attempt to avert future financing problems.

Officials are trying to reach an agreement that would end the year-long dispute between the Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity Division of HUD and the local housing authority.

If the two groups do not reach accord soon, financing problems could arise in the future for the county housing authority. The Madison County Community Development office already has lost one plot program due to the county authority not having signed a fair housing agreement.

Fineman Dennis Giger of Alhambra and Engineer Dan Leonard of St. Louis reported the crossing signal lights were flashing and the train whistle was sounding at the time of the accident.

Rains was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for a left arm injury and an abrasion to the right knee and was released.

Free flowers Thursday at Wilson Park

The Granite City Park District will be giving away flower cuttings at 9 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 23, in Sleeking Gardens at Wilson Park. All plants will be dug and distributed by the park gardeners and those seeking the cuttings are reminded to bring their own containers.

Among the flowers offered this year are periwinkles, colius, begonias, marigolds, lantana, red salvia and others. Rose cuttings, chrysanthemums and dahlias will not be given out this year.

THIEF CUTS SCREEN Mrs. Margaret Manon, 48, of 1828 Spruce St., reported last week that a burglar cut the screen in a storm door, entered her home and stole a black purse, containing $120 cash, a check for $112, papers and keys.

Meet the new Felix Unger

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — While "Barney Miller" lives on in reruns, RON GLASS will be back this fall as Felix Unger in "The New Odd Couple," on ABC, and he vows this will be a different Felix than audiences have thrilled to on the stage, screen and previously on TV.

"He'll clean but he won't wear an apron or carry a feather duster," Ron said during a lunch break from work on the series.

"We're not going to spend time bemoaning the demise of his marriage. He's going to devote himself to establishing new thriving relationships."

"We intend to show his vulnerability but he won't be whining. He'll be active as opposed to passive."

While other stars often wait a year between series tries, Ron decided to plunge into this new one right away, for several reasons. He saw it as a chance to be top banana, to take advantage of his career momentum, to work with series executive producer GARRY MARSHALL and to be involved in the behind-the-scenes creation of the series.

Ron has been with the project since April, helping to choose the writing staff, the direction, even his co-star, DEMOND WILSON, who portrays Oscar Madison.

Felix is still a photographer, with the emphasis on fashion magazine work. Also, Ron would like the series to offer black men as "bright, successful, middle-class people, not men who end every sentence with 'man.'"

Ten years ago when Ron came to Hollywood, his agent told him to "stop speaking so well," because he was black with a voice suitable for the cream of stage roles.

"So I'd stop putting the 'D's' and the 'T's' at the end of my words for auditions," he recalled. "Then when I got the job I'd put them back in."

Life off the set is a home in the Hollywood Hills, which he'd like to enlarge with additional space in the basement. If not working during baseball season, Ron can be found at the Dodger games when the team is in town. It's likely he'll lose his voice more than once during a summer from cheering so loudly.

"This series is a real challenge for me," he said. "The involvement in creating this character, in molding him is very exciting. In a way, it makes it harder work than 'Barney Miller' was the last few seasons."

BARBARA EDEN has no series on the air this year, and word is she has separated from her husband, CHARLES FEGERT. Barbara is set to appear in the NBC version of the Harold Robbins book "Carpenterbaggers Part II" after finishing her national tour of "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas."

As he has done in the past, BOB HOPE will kick off NBC's fall season with a special satirizing — you guessed it — the fall season itself.

PATTI DAVIS (daughter of RONNIE and NANCY) guest-stars in an episode of "Romance Theatre," a syndicated serial which debuts this fall. She'll play an American woman who gives aid and love to a Polish defector.

"Dallas" star SUSAN HOWARD really likes Texas. She's building a home on a 65-acre estate right outside the namesake city. Of course, she'll be with her husband CALVIN CHURANE.

"Life of the Party," a TV movie starring CAROL BURNETT and LLOYD BRIDGES, leads off CBS's fall season. Carol portrays a woman who recovers from her own alcoholism and opens a halfway house for other women addicted to the bottle. It's a subject dear to her heart, as both her parents were alcoholics.

ANGELA LANSBURY is having an active year. She has finished work on "Little Gloria, Happy At Last" for NBC as Gloria Vanderbilt's mother. Now she's in rehearsals for "A Little Family Business," a comedy that's set to open on Broadway around Christmas time.

A peek at next season's soaps

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Hopefully this won't kill so much of the suspense that you'll throw away your television sets.

But today you are going to learn the futures of some of your favorites on prime-time soap operas.

Chats with a few of the stars and with "Falcon Crest" producer Earl Hamner have disclosed that lead players in TV's sin-and-sorrow sagas will be as sinful, as sorrowing and as all-round exciting next season as they were last time.

Yet a few will escape sorrow and become downright joyful for at least a second or so.

For example, cold-hearted Angie, played by Jane Wyman, on "Falcon Crest" will become mellow, though not so mellow as her wine, when she finds romance with Mel Ferrer.

Margaret Ladd, who plays Angie's troubled daughter Emma, will disappear from the show temporarily, since, in real life, she's having twins.

Meanwhile Hamner is searching for twins to take turns playing the fictional baby Melissa Cumson, played by Ana Alicia, will bear on the series. He'd like to find newborns, but he won't be able to use Ladd's set, because they'll arrive at the wrong time.

Over at the Ewing ranch on "Dallas," folks are eagerly awaiting the reading of Jock Ewing's will which, when read, will annoy J.R.

But, then, doesn't everything annoy J.R., just as J.R. annoys everybody?

Son Gary Ewing who lives at "Knots Landing" will inherit a fortune which he may not use wisely or well, since his character has been deteriorating lately.

Meanwhile a new character, Timothy Murphy from "The Young and the

WE'VE GOT YOUR PULSE

The Most Efficient Gas Furnace In The World!

The LENNOX Pulse is so efficient...

...it may cut your heat bill in half

Yesterday's conventional pilot furnace has an annual fuel utilization efficiency (AFUE) of only 55%. This compares with an efficiency of 96% AFUE for the Lennox Pulse heating system. Actual fuel reduction depends on the efficiency of your present heating system.

...it needs no
chimney

Almost all of the heat produced by the Lennox Pulse furnace goes to heat your house, not up the chimney. Vent products discharge through a small plastic pipe, and condensate water goes down the drain. There is no chimney!

...it has as little as a two-year payback

Money saved by decreasing your fuel bills will pay for the installation of a Lennox Pulse system. Even though the pulse system is initially more expensive than a conventional furnace, the additional cost can be paid for in less than one year by reduced fuel bills.

Electronic air cleaners vs. media filters: the down-and-dirty facts.

If you think all indoor air cleaners are the same, try this for size: A Honeywell Electronic Air Cleaner can collect millions of tiny airborne pollutants that are too small to be trapped in a media filter.

Media filters just aren't very effective at collecting particles of smoke, dirt and dust smaller than 1 micron in size. A Honeywell Electronic Air Cleaner can collect particles as small as .03 micron.

That's important. Because those tiny dirty air varmits can do a lot of damage in a home.

They stay in the air longer than larger particles because they're too light to drop out. Homeowners breathe them. Air seems stale.

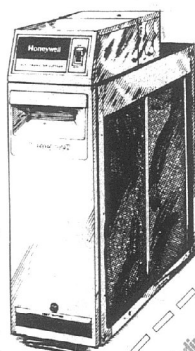

They're so small they can settle on vertical surfaces. Like walls, windows and drapes. That means frequent cleaning and redecorating. Time and money.

Honeywell Electronic Air Cleaners can remove a lot of those microscopic staining particles from the air. Many media filters can't. Those are the facts, down and dirty.

Find out more. Get all the down-and-dirty facts about indoor air cleaning from Tom Maxwell at Honeywell, 10400 Yellow Circle Drive, Minnetonka, MN 55343.

The Most Efficient Gas Furnace In The World!

The Lennox Pulse gas furnace is the most significant breakthrough in furnace design in over 40 years. It produces heat unlike any other furnace with greater efficiency than ever before possible. Operating on a principle of pulse combustion, small quantities of gas and air are electrically ignited at a rate of 60 to 70 time per second. A condensing heat exchanger extracts 200 to 350 degrees more heat from your fuel than is currently possible with conventional gas furnaces.

Unprecedented Heating Efficiency

If your present gas furnace is over five years old, it is probably in the range of 55 to 50% efficient, compared to the Pulse's 91 to 96%*. This difference can mean drastic reductions in your monthly heating bills — enough to justify replacing your present unit today, even if it still operates. The Pulse furnace is that efficient. Even if your system is a newer "high efficiency" model, you can still save big with the Lennox Pulse.

* Annual Fuel Utilization Efficiency (AFUE) as determined by Department of Energy Standards. The higher the percentage, the greater the efficiency and your energy savings.
